SPORT NOTES

SHARKEY IS BEST OF THE CHALLENGERS

NEW YORK—Jack Sharkey, heaviest heavyweight, who can make his lions speak as loud as his words, is favored by the New York boxing commission as the next challenger for the heavyweight championship of the world, but no interference will be offered to the bout between Sharkey and Jack Dempsey on July 31.

This much was learned from James A. Farley, chairman of the commission, and he spoke with the assurance that he would be supported by William Mulholland, another member of the commission—a Sharkey admirer of long standing.

"It was not so much what Sharkey did in knocking out Jim Maloney, a high ranking contender, it was the way he did it that impressed me with the conviction that he is the outstanding challenger for Gene Tunney," Farley said.

Sharkey has done everything asked for him.

"He took on Harry Wills and beat him when every other heavyweight, including the champion, was to put it at its fairest, not interested in offers. Then he fought Mike McGuire and stopped him. It may be said that McGuire is not a great fighter, and that Sharkey should have beaten him more decisively, but McGuire is a hard man to fight."

"Sharkey then took the Maloney fight and, in winning against one of the best men in the division, showed every qualification of a championship contender—if not a real champion."

The commission doesn't want to order any promoter to shut Dempsey aside and make a match between Sharkey and Tunney, however. "That is up to the fighters and the promoters."

BEST BOXERS OF LAST THIRTY YEARS

BY "HIDDY" BISHOP

CHICAGO—With the thought only of trying to interest boxing fans, I am going to name eight boxers whom I believe were the very best of the several divisions during the past 30 years, or perhaps for all time.

I have seen these eight boxers in action, some of them several times, and have served in the capacity of trainer and second for at least two of them. This gives me a fair idea of their ability. It enables me to make the selections with an intimate knowledge of what I am doing.

Here are the selections—those I pick as the greatest champions of all time, together with their birth places and dates:

Heavyweight—Peter Jackson, St. Croix, West Indies, July 3, 1861.

Light heavyweight—Bob Fitzsimmons, Helston, Cornwall, England, June 6th, 1862.

Middleweight—Stanley Ketchel, Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 14, 1867.

Welterweight—Tommy Ryan, Redwood, N. Y., March 31, 1870.

Lightweight—Kid Levine, Bay City, Mich., December 4, 1869.

Featherweight—Terry McGoheen, Johnston, Pa., March 9, 1880.

Bantamweight—George Dixon, Halifax, Nova Scotia, July 2nd, 1870.

Flyweight—Jimmy Barry, Chicago, Ill., August 5, 1870.

My reasons for giving these ratings are: I have seen all the great heavyweights from John L. Sullivan to the present day. Jim Corbett was by far the cleverest. Jeffries was a strong, rugged biter. Many of the others had merit, but Jackson excelled all of them. He combined cleverness, gameness, generosity, hitting and speed. He was brainy and an excellent judge of pace. He knew more about the inside than any other man of the game—the only one all the others. Jackson was never world's champion for the reason that Sullivan would never meet him.

Bob Fitzsimmons was easily the best of the light heavyweights. He proved this by taking three titles, light heavy, heavy and middle.

Stanley Ketchel had everything that went to make up a champion, particularly skill and hitting. He was game, tricky, aggressive, and most determined.

Tommy Ryan topped the welterweights, although mysterious Billy Smith was a close contender. Ryan was all class, a great ring general. One of his strongest winning points was proper count-downing.

Kid Levine was the greatest light weight the world ever saw. He was an untiring worker, a hitter, strong and possessed of remarkable vitality. He proved his right to distinction by beating Joe Walcott twice, once on a knockout.

Terry McGoheen was the best featherweight. He was of the ripping, tearing type, a battler who fairly

Coast to Coast Preparation For Jubilee Celebration

Ottawa, Canada, 1927

With the Jubilee of Confederation less than a month away reports received by the National Committee here indicate that the arrangements for the celebration throughout the Dominion are well in hand everywhere and that the various localities are vying with each other in their desire to show the world that, after sixty years, Canada is a united country in spirit and in fact. Not only are the cities and big centres of population showing generosity of their time, money and resources to insure that the anniversary is adequately celebrated but from the remotest points come reports of the enthusiasm of the young and old, are enthusiastically preparing for the event a month hence. While the National Committee, shortly after its session, circulated throughout the Dominion a suggested programme for the three days of celebration, starting with July 1st, and ending with the third, reports indicate that there will be a wide and interesting divergence of features characteristic of the various parts of the Dominion, and typical of their respective interests and pursuits. From Atlantic to Pacific there is evidence of a universal desire for the manifestation of Canadian sentiment, irrespective of varied geographical or economic conditions. Reports show that there will be a widespread manifestation of concordance in the original objects of Confederation, and of satisfaction in local programmes will, of necessity, be diversified, and varied in character, and will include community sports, athletic and sporting competitions, regattas, pageants, and floats, the planting of maple trees, the unveiling of monuments and memorials, ceremonies connected with the naming and dedication of Confederation parks and squares, folk dances, and Indian law-ways, old home reunions, and the gathering together of venerable and celebrated figures, fire-works, and bonfires, children's festivals, etc., etc.

With a view toward ascertaining the nature of the activities in the various provinces the National Committee, on Saturday communicated by wire with the heads of the provincial organizations, and this afternoon has received replies from the majority. Hon. F. J. Nash of Charlottetown reports that, in addition to the big celebration planned for the Capital of the land, there will be celebrations at Summerside, Pictou, Alberton, Montserrat, Georgetown, and other centres. An interesting feature of the unveiling of a Confederation tablet, and the laying of a wreath in the Legislative Chambers at 12.30 on the afternoon of Friday. The Lieutenant Governor will preside over events at Victoria Park, where messages from His Majesty the King, and others will be read, and where Percy Pope, son of one of the Fathers of Confederation, will deliver a historic address. There will be great races, regattas and other sports, community singing, fireworks, bonfires, etc.

J. D. Black, secretary of the provincial committee of New Brunswick, reports that "every pupil enrolled in the public schools of that province will be presented with a Union Jack to be carried in the celebration parades, and retained at the same time that the children's Confederation medals now being presented." The province of the province will also erect a bronze plaque suitably inscribed, in the provincial legislature to honor the memory of the eight New Brunswick Fathers of Confederation. The Fredericton celebration will continue during three days, and the official programme will be in full swing in front of the Parliament Buildings which will be carried by loud speakers to those assemblies. There will be a parade of school children, fraternal and national societies and service clubs, floats, etc., and the royal salute will be fired at eight o'clock, while speeches will be delivered by Premier Buxton, A. A. Dwyer, opposition leader, and others.

In the evening there will be a Mardi Gras carnival on Parliament Square, culminating with a fireworks display fired from barges on the St. John River in front of the illuminated Legislative Buildings. Celebrations of a similar character will be continued on Saturday, while on Sunday there will be an international service in the open air. The report states that "similar celebrations extending over three days will be held at every incorporated city and town in New Brunswick, as well as in many centres of population which are not incorporated. The provincial committee has approximately fifty local committees organized and working strenuously, and in communities too small to have any other kind of celebration. The Jubilee of Confederation will be honored by the formal closing exercises at the public schools on June 29th, this morning observation in 2,000 centres."

John Hesse, provincial librarian and archivist at Victoria, B.C., reports as follows: "Approximately 250 communities are celebrating in a noteworthy manner, as are also many small schools. Elaborate preparations are being made in larger centres for the staging of ceremonies typifying Dominion history from earliest times, and outstanding Dominion and provincial incidents. The local committees are showing much care, skill, ingenuity and enthusiasm, and the local teachers are specially united in an intensive programme of Confederation history. The committee feels that all laborers will evaluate the meaning of the inspirational ceremonies with resultant good citizenship, and pride in the Dominion."

Prof. Regan comes the report by Leroy Johnson to the effect that over 200 local points in Saskatchewan have organized strong committees for proper celebration. In large centres the occasion will be observed by elaborate programmes on all three days. A striking feature of the activities at local points is the arrangements being made for community gatherings, special attention being paid to giving the school children a prominent part. In some cases from five to forty school districts will be consolidated at a central point to take part in the celebrations. Present indications are that Saskatchewan's seven cities, 50 towns and approximately 200 villages will celebrate enthusiastically and brilliantly.

Manitoba is preparing for the celebration with great energy and originality. The provincial committee, D. S. Woods, its secretary, reports has sent personal letters to 600 reverend, mayor, and service clubs inviting them to organize. Organizations are complete in 73 centres. Letters have also been sent to 2,000 teachers with suggested programmes included, and heads of churches have been invited to join. Two minute radio reports of progress are being sent out daily, while eighty-five country newspapers are being supplied with articles of an educative character.

Alberta is also in the forefront. Edmonton is to entertain 15,000 children from its place and separate schools to a huge children's celebration in Victoria Park on June 29th. The committee has conceived the thought of having the Edmonton school child of the family with the longest Canadian ancestry light the bonfire that will be one of the most and flames set alight on Jubilee

THE BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN ACT

The second Dominion of Canada, founded July 1, 1867, by the British North American Act, was composed of four Provinces, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Manitoba became the fifth Province in 1870; in 1871, British Columbia became the sixth; in 1872, Prince Edward Island became the seventh; in 1905 Alberta and Saskatchewan became the eighth and ninth Provinces; Yukon became a Territory in 1908 and all the rest of Canada is "The Northwest Territories." The British North American Act may be termed the "Written Constitution" of Canada, although in Canada there is much that is unwritten in that Constitution which has been defined as "a totality of the principles more or less vaguely and generally stated upon which we think the people should be governed."

The difference between the Constitution of Canada and that of the United States has been described by the Hon. W. R. Riddell, as speaking generally, amounting to this: "In Canada anything unconstitutional is wrong, here it is illegal, here it is unconstitutional is illegal, here right and even advisable may be."

There is no provision in the B.N.A. Act for amendments thereto, the reason being that when the Provinces of Lower and Upper Canada were united, in 1841, into the Province of Canada, the Lower Province was largely populated by French Canadians almost all of whom were Roman Catholics and much attached to their old laws and customs; the remainder of the population were English-speaking and Protestant. It is general attached to English law and customs. While the French Canadians are setting the center into a constitutional system, English-speaking brethren, who were not willing to enter into a contract which could be varied by the more numerous English without their consent.

Still there is no difficulty in having an amendment made when desired. It is brought about in this fashion: An Address to the Sovereign is passed by both Houses of Parliament at Ottawa, asking for the amendment specified. According to the unwritten Constitution, the vote on the Address must be unanimous (or practically unanimous) or it will not be forwarded to London. When the Address is received by the Colonial Secretary in London, the desired amendment to the B.N.A. Act is passed by the Imperial Parliament as of course and without debate. The legal conception of the power of the Parliament of the Dominion and the Legislatures of the Provinces is that they are a part of the Imperial Parliament through the B.N.A. and amending Acts. But it is a mistake to infer from this that such powers are limited and delegated. Lord Selborne laid this down definitely saying, "The same city's celebration also includes the placing of wreaths on the grave of Father LaCrosse, a pioneer missionary. From farthest north points in this province, and from remote points in the Territories comes the report that celebrations will be carried out."

Some Men Who Made Confederation Possible

SIR CHARLES TUPPER

The "War time" of Confederation was for Sir Charles Tupper, and his whole career was one of strenuous activity and aggressive politics. Along with Joseph Howe he stands as the most conspicuous figure of the Maritime Provinces. Tupper lacked the fire and passionate appeal and the poetic and eloquent inspiration of Howe, but he had a great platform strength and his driving power was superior. His contest with Howe, the great Liberal leader in Nova Scotia and throughout the Maritime, in which the latter suffered his first defeat, in 1855, was long known as the "battle of the giants."

Of English extraction through United Empire Loyalist descent, the late Sir Charles was born in Amherst, N.S., in 1821, and despite his career almost inordinate activity and stress and strain, he lived to be 94. His early life was a hard struggle, but with characteristic indomitable he successfully graduated at Edinburgh University as an M.D., in 1845, after which he settled down to practice in his native town. His great ability and decided turn for public affairs brought him very quickly into prominence, and the "little doctor," as he was known, was in the thick and front of the fight from the time he first donned his "coat of mail." Quick to discern the weak points in the policy of the old-line Conservatives, he drew up a program having a more comprehensive and progressive view of the future of the country. As a consequence he attracted to himself the moderate men of both parties, or in other words completed a new political alignment and became the acknowledged leader.

In 1861, he was chosen Premier of Nova Scotia. That was the year in which Confederation took root. Not only did he bring his province though unwillingly enough, into Union, but he took a leading part in forming the terms of the U.N.A. Act, and afterwards in England in defeating opposition and settling the final draft with the Imperial authorities, and even succeeded in inducing his great rival, Joseph Howe, to join the Government of Sir John Macdonald after Confederation. For his services he was created a C.B. On the formation of the first government, in view of certain difficulties arising in other provinces, he declined to accept a portfolio. He was, however, sworn in as President of the Council in 1870, and in 1873, when Sir John's Government resigned, was Minister of Customs. Then came the dark days of opposition and Tupper was a source of great strength to his leader, being at once his chief lieutenant, adviser and organizer. To his activities and power of entreaty much of the success of Sir John's National Policy in 1878 was due.

After the elections Sir Charles became Minister of Public Works, and as such he organized the Department of Railways and Canals, of which he was the first minister. In that capacity he accompanied Sir John and Sir Leonard Tilley to England on a memorable visit, the result of which was the bargain with a syndicate to build the C.P.R.

In the spring of 1884, his work of piloting the C.P.R. or its somewhat adventurous career to prosperous success completed, he was appointed to the office of Canadian High Commissioner. At the invitation of Sir John Macdonald in 1887, he returned from England, accepting the position of Minister of Finance, which he held for about a year and again as assistant minister in London, where he remained until called back as Secretary of State under Sir Mackenzie Bowell. In a few months he succeeded as Prime Minister on the eve of the elections in 1896. The fortunes of the Conservative Party, through internal cabinet dissensions and from other causes, were at a low ebb and despite his former pro-Canadian policy, power was almost un-parallelled efforts he went down to defeat.

In opposition, as leader, he displayed not less vigor of debate, not less courage, and not less determination to win, but as the rising star of Sir Wilfrid Laurier were two fearful odds against him, and at the end of his term he retired, his remaining years being devoted to his private interests and to the perpetuation of his reminiscences.

EPIC OF WHEAT

Sixty years of Confederation have brought progress far exceeding the hopes of the pioneers who laid the foundation of the Dominion, and the very coping stone of this arch of achievement is "Wheat."

In celebrating the Diamond Jubilee, Canadians should recall the truly marvellous story of wheat. The three prairie provinces produce the greater bulk of the Canadian wheat crop, and the surplus of the exportable surplus is about 300,000,000 bushels annually.

It is a story which proves to conquer the greatest obstacles, to adapt themselves to nature and to unite science with industry.

In 1867 wheat production—and all agricultural production was confined to the central and eastern provinces—was 21,000,000 bushels, barely enough to feed the population of 3,270,000 people. The prairie west, not yet confederated, was a primeval wilderness, a summering land for Indian bands, and a grazing paradise for buffalo.

Twenty years brought the west into Confederation and witnessed the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The faith of Canadians in the western prairie was unshaken, but the outside world scoffed at the mad dream that sometime the prairie would yield to the plough. As late as 1881 a responsible British publication said of the prairie that it was as useless to develop it as to endeavor to carry out a scheme for the utilization of ice-bergs. The prairies are frost bound for seven or eight months of the year. Men and cattle are frozen to death in numbers that would astonish and those not killed outright are often maimed for life.

Settlement proceeded slowly. Until the turn of the century Canadians themselves regarded the prairie as a ranching country. Wheat could not be grown successfully because the varieties then in existence required 120 days or more to ripen and the growing season was too short.

By 1906 wheat production had climbed to 125,000,000 bushels, mostly produced outside of the prairies. In that year Dr. C. G. Saunders, Dominion cerealist, concluded experiments he had been carrying on at the Ottawa Experimental Farm with the announcement that he had discovered a new wheat—Marquis—which yielded five bushels more per acre than any other variety and ripened in 110 days.

Clipping ten days off the growing season made the prairie the granary of the world. The era of the wheat farmer had dawned. In 1909, production mounted to 160,000,000 bushels. In 1911, it soared to 220,000,000 bushels, and in 1915 to 285,000,000 bushels. A strip two hundred miles wide across the prairie was turned from a ranching country to a wheat-growing area. In 1925 a record of production—470,

THE RAYMOND SUGAR FACTORY

RAYMOND, Alberta.—The Raymond Sugar Factories have begun a 60-day run to recover sugar from surplus molasses on hand. The enormous surplus of crude molasses has been a problem confronting sugar officials, which, despite the heavy consumption by livestock, has been difficult to solve. However, the company has just completed the erection of a room with concrete floor, 50 by 50 feet, and installed an Osmore plant, with 24 Osmore presses. This new equipment, when in operation, converts the crude molasses into Osmore sugar, which will be remelted during the fall run and made into the edible commodity. Some day this story will apply to Strathmore.

ROCKYFORD

A meeting of the Tutor U.F.W.A. was held on Wednesday afternoon, June 15th, at the home of Mrs. D. Horn. Mr. J. B. McGuire was present and gave quite a talk on Property Rights, which was very much appreciated. Quite a number of Rockyford people were visitors at this meeting. A very delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

The Ladies Aid of the Union Church met with Mrs. Fraser on Thursday of last week. Very nice refreshments were served by the hostess.

It certainly speaks well for the sobriety of the Rockyfordites that no one in this vicinity has reported as having seen the "Strangler".

Some time this week the moving machine will be busy on the golf course clearing the fairways, and golf enthusiasts will be once more well away.

Through error the Baseball Tournament was scheduled for June 22nd. This being the week of exams, it was found necessary to move the ball diamond to a new location. The Ball Club, acting in conjunction with the Village, have decided on a site just east of the C.N.R. and have purchased the land from Mr. T. A. Wiens. The Ball Club have started work on this with the idea of putting it in good shape for the tournament. This land is all under irrigation, and the village are considering putting in trees with strong possibility that at some future time this may be made into a park, where all sports can be held.

Mr. Phil Lingenfelder is putting on a free show at the Rockyford Hall for all children of school age, at 4:30 o'clock on the afternoon of July 1st. Five reels of fun and laughter for the ladies. Adults will be charged the minimum price of 50c for afternoon show. In the evening from 7:30 to 9:30, Mr. Lingenfelder will put on a regular show. Prices 50c to 1.00.

Despite the threatening weather, there was a large crowd out to see the ball game Sunday between the Rockyford team and Drumheller-Nacama team. The final score was 7-0 in favor of Drumheller. There is a possibility that our team may go to Drumheller next Sunday to play a return game. Pep up boys, we want to win this one.

Miss R. Kirby, of Fairview, England, was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kirby for a few days the past week. Mr. Leand Miles, of Blainville, was a visitor in Rockyford for a few days.

Mr. Be. Levitt, formerly of Rockyford, was a visitor here last week. Mr. and Mrs. Guertzel and nephew, Freddie Lloyd, of Nacelle, Washington, arrived here last Friday and will spend the summer on the Guertzel ranch near Rockyford.

Mrs. Fred Campbell and Mrs. Billy Walker motored over from Denness and spent the week with the Griffiths family.

Miss Emily Pate is in the Holy Cross Hospital where she has undergone an operation for appendicitis. At the latest report she is getting on nicely. Mr. and Mrs. Greenan and Mr. and Mrs. McKibben, of Carbon, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McGuire last Sunday.

For lows and other points in the States. They stopped at Staveland to visit Mrs. Bittles' sister, and we understand the condition of the roads kept them several days.

Mr. Phacito, of Calgary, has been here the past week visiting Dr. Hewson and family.

The United Church Sunday School will observe Sunday, June 25th, in a special manner. This is the Sunday immediately before the Jubilee Day of Canada, and a fitting program will be rendered. All are invited to attend.

Miss West, who is returning to India as a missionary of the M. E. Church, in U.S.A., will speak at the United Church Services on Sunday at Crowfoot at 11 a.m., at Valley Garden at 3:30 p.m., and at Rockyford at 8 p.m. Miss West has been at college for the past year, and will bring a message full of the enthusiasm of youth. All are invited to attend. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed.

The Rev. Father Lynett, of Oxyen, and Rev. of Hinton and Mr. McGowan, of Youngstown, were guests of Rev. Father Boltz at St. Rita's Rectory on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. On Thursday and Friday the above named three, together with Father Boltz motored to Calgary.

The Catholic Women's League of St. Rita's Parish are conducting a social evening at St. Rita's Rectory on next Sunday evening, June 26th, commencing at 7:30 p.m., a concert to the Catholic School teachers, the Misses Walsh. The Misses Walsh are leaving for Lovett, Ont., on the 26th, to spend the summer days of their parents' home. The Catholic Women's League extend a cordial invitation to all their non-Catholic friends to attend this tea and social evening.

On last Thursday morning, the Feast of Corpus Christi, a class of sixteen children were admitted to their first Holy Communion at the 8 o'clock Mass in St. Rita's Church. First Holy Communion day is a big day in the life of a Catholic, and the little children, very happy and pious, made a beautiful picture as they marched in procession to the church, and approached the Holy Communion table. The girls were dressed in white, in bright veils and flowers and candles. The Rev. Father Lynett, of Sacred Heart Church, Oxyen, was the celebrant of the Mass said before the Blessed Sacrament exposed, and administered the First Holy Communion. The following comprised the first Communion Class: Rita Denness, Rita Commert, Elizabeth Guertzel, Rita Hendricks, Margaret and Alvina Heintz, Jean, Kathleen O'Farrell, Vera Barlow, Wilfred Busch, James Duhm, Wilfred Crough, Robert Brown, Angus Gormet, Sistas Henrich, Frank Stun and Thomas Kary.

Mrs. Ed. Feyer took her two daughters, Marcelle and Viola to Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary, on Monday, where the young ladies had their tonsils removed.

THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE OF CANADA

Through Confederation new burdens were laid upon Canada. Up to 1870 British regulars stationed in different parts of British North America served as centres for the education of militia officers. In 1870 and 1871 the regulars, with the exception of small portions at the naval bases of Halifax and Esquimaux, were removed and the Dominion lost its source of military education. The Canadian Permanent Force came into being in 1871 and training schools were established in connection with it. These were wholly inadequate, and there was no provision for the training of officers for whither command, as a result the militia was subjected to severe criticism and British officers with the force in Canada were the need of higher military training.

The question was taken up by the press and later was the subject of warm debate in the House of Commons, and in 1876 the Government, of which the Hon. Alexander Macleod was leader, passed an Act of Parliament establishing a military college. According to this Act the institution was established: "For the purpose of imparting a complete education in all branches of military tactics, fortification, engineering, and general knowledge, and for the purpose of selecting and training officers for the militia and for the regular forces for command and staff appointments." The college opened its doors on June 1, 1876, with eighteen gentlemen cadets in attendance.

The peninsula, Forting Kingston, was selected as the site for the new institution and the first cadets were held in the old "Stone Prison" which had been used as a military training school during the War of 1812. The first commandant was Major-General (later General) E. V. O. Hewitt, who had had wide experience both as a soldier and as an educator. He established the institution on a sound basis, inspired the cadets with a love of their profession and gave the college its motto—Truth, Duty, Valour.

The Royal Military College received its first real test in 1885. At the time of the Riel Rebellion the cadets, as a body, volunteered for active service in the field. Thirty-seven saw service with the expeditionary force, four of whom were wounded. At this time only thirty-eight graduates had left the college, and between twenty and thirty of these were in the Imperial Army.

Between 1875 and 1908 ex-cadets of the Royal Military College were with the Imperials in about forty military expeditions in every hole and corner of Africa and Asia. Seventy-four graduates were on service in South Africa during the Boer War (1898-1901). Twenty-five of these were with the Imperial Army. Seven were killed in action or died of wounds.

The great value of the institution was realized during the World War. Over nine hundred graduates and ex-cadets served in the war, three were commanders of the original Canadian Division, one was awarded the Victoria Cross and three others, killed in action, were recommended for it. They paid a heavy toll for Empire, about two hundred and fifty being killed.

The Royal Military College has been a great bond of Empire. Yearly graduates joined the Imperials, and as military officers, educators, and engineers have made their influence felt in every part of the broadly scattered Empire.

Rev. Mr. Rennie, formerly pastor of the Strathmore Presbyterian Church, has received a call to the High River United Church. Mr. Rennie has been pastor of Bankview Church, Calgary, for several years.

Miss Patterson, who has been on the teaching staff (or some time, has resigned, and will be succeeded next term by Miss Poik, of the Chancellor school.

The Strathmore Elks orchestra will furnish the music for the big dance at Nightgale on Friday night, June 24. The Girl Guides, under the direction of Mrs. Douglas French, conducted a "Tag Day" in aid of the Canadian Red Cross on Saturday, and realized the sum of $51.15.

T. E. Wright is in receipt of two very interesting postcards from our old friend "Jock" Mackenzie, of Rothbury, Scotland. One represents the streets of Aberdeen on a "Tag Day", and as far as the eye can carry, not a single Scotchman is in sight; the other is the same city upon a day when a house to house collection is being taken, and every street is jammed with people. "Nobody home."

Next Sunday Rev. A. H. Row, will preach his farewell sermon prior to removing to the new charge at Gracium. Sunday, July 30th. The Rev. Mr. Wilkinson will conduct the service for the first time in the United Church.

Last week was an unfortunate one for the Strathmore Baseball Club, when they suffered two defeats. Carle had trimmed them 4 to 2, while the Calgary Athletics came down and applied the "whitewash" brush to the tune of 12-0.

Bill Saunders attended the Elks Carnival at Calgary, and was lucky in grabbing of a couple of nice prizes. As the camping season is approaching Bill was anxious to cop off one or two plans, but "the little goddess of luck" wouldn't let Bill bring home the bacon.

Jim Moran, one of the most ardent of the local fans, was quite satisfied to lose the game to the Athletics, but is still grieving that Carle had not away with the game last week.

Frank Seales, who has been in business in Strathmore for several years, has made a business deal with Bill Woodliffe and will remove to Calgary, where he has taken over a shop on 17th Ave., near Victoria Park. Frank's friends wish him success in his new venture.

C. Ley is relieving agent at the C.P.R. while D. A. Perry is away on his vacation. Everyone may expect some real live fish stories and golf anecdotes when D. A. returns.

Mr. Herb Miller has resigned his position with George Lane & Company, as manager of the Bar U Ranch after many years of active service. Mr. Miller came to Alberta 42 years ago from the south driving ten teams of oxen when it took him seven days to drive his outfit from Macleod to High River. From the date of his arrival here he has been more or less associated with the late George Lane, in charge of the round-up wagon and manager of the Namaka farm and later manager of the Bar U, which is Canada's largest ranch property—High River Times.

The Women's Institute have completed arrangements for the Baby Clinic, to be held in the basement of the United Church on Monday, June 27th, and will start at 10 a.m. The clinic has been doing excellent work throughout the Province, and every mother who is interested in the future of her infant, should avail herself of this opportunity.

The school staff for next term will be as follows: Grade 1, Miss Strong; Grades II and III, Miss Foltz; Grades IV and V, Miss McLellan; Grades VI and VII, Mr. Watson; Grades VIII, IX, X, and XI, Mr. Foster and Mr. Crowther.

Don't forget to put in a supply of provisions next week to cover a three day period, as the stores will be closed on Friday and Saturday, July 1st and 2nd. These days having been declared public holidays by the Dominion Government.

John Anderson went up to Calgary on Sunday and was able to bring "Tommy" back with him, where his little friends hope to soon see him fully convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels White are being congratulated upon the birth of a son on June 22nd. Nels is quite certain that the coming first-born son has arrived.

Jim Swanson is quite a Poultry Expert has a young goose which has become quite a "pet". Recently Jim was busy planting his cabbage plants and did not notice that the pet goose was following his trail very closely. When he did observe the bird he also discovered that all the cabbage plants in the row had disappeared. That bird has spent its last Xmas in Strathmore.

Bill Clemens and Leslie West have just returned from a motor trip to the States.

Friday evening, following the St. Michael & All Angels Church service, Mr. C. H. Patrick invited the members of the vestry to his home to discuss with Bishop Sherman, matters pertaining to their church.

Wheat Pool News

The campaign for the signing of the Second Series of Wheat Pool contracts is under way and meeting with excellent success. Every district is being organized and it is planned to have every grain producer canvassed.

The Heald Canada Mortgage Company, with Head Office in Winnipeg, have signed a Second Series Wheat Pool contract covering about 25,000 acres of Alberta farm land, one-third of which is in wheat. The management of this company expressed complete satisfaction with the operation of the Wheat Pool since its inception. L. McKinnon, well-known Southern Alberta oil-timer, has signed a Second Series Wheat Pool contract covering over 200 acres of land at Delnadem. The L. K. ranch, of which Mr. McKinnon is president, has placed over 4,500 acres under a Second Series contract.

The L. K. has land at Delnadem, Croft, foot, Bassano and Queenstown.

The Bassano Board of Trade passed a resolution expressing its favorable opinion of the principles involved in the co-operative marketing of wheat and other grains and its willingness to assist in the drive for the signing of the Second Series of Wheat Pool contracts.

The Saskatchewan Wheat Pool has already obtained a sign-up of close to seven million acres for the Second Series contracts. This is over 50 per cent. of the sign-up of the first series contracts. Reports from all over Alberta regarding the progress of the Wheat Pool Second Series membership drive are very encouraging.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Tony Grogan: "There are no more entertaining young men. Why, I remember when it was a common thing for a young man to start out as clerk and in a few years own the business."

Fred Anderson: "Yes, but cash registers have been invented since."

Boy: "Do you know that in some parts of Africa a man doesn't know his wife until he marries her?"

Percy Parish: "Why pick on Africa?"

"I notice, young man, that you smoke," said Mr. Zell, "tell me, do you drink as well?"

"I should jolly well say I do," responded Stubbly, cheerfully, "rather better, in fact, old bean."

Mr. Zell: "Let's go."

The little man had been invited to a birthday party at one of the neighbor's homes. With mother, fearing he would disgrace her by his profane language, refused to let him go. The hostess begged, and the mother finally consented, after being promised that he would be sent home after he had said the first curse word.

Fifteen minutes after he had left for the party he was back. His mother, in a rage, ordered him to his room. After she had recovered her composure, she went to the room and said:

"Well, tell me what terrible word you said this time."

"I didn't say a damn thing—the party ain't till next week!"

Grandma Zell (looking up from the Standard): "It says here that young women are abandoning all restrictions. Now, mind, don't let me catch you going out without yours. Gladys, when you are hobnobbing around with that Dean Brunell Harold Smith."

Harry Miner: "I saw you in church last Sunday."

Jim Weir: "I didn't notice you."

Harry Miner: "I suppose not. You see, I took the collection."

Percy Parish: "I was just taken for Lloyd George."

Bill Tierney: "Hub, that's nothing. I was taken for Macdonald-King."

Mickey Torrance: "I got you both beat. A fellow walked up, tapping me on the shoulder, and he said, 'Great Caesar, is that you?'"

Smithy tells a story about a young fellow he knows in Calgary, who had habited a little too freely. He was passing a mirror in one of the hotels, when he stopped and smiled. "Look," he called out, "they have a picture of me here."

A Calgary man recently waited three times at his own wedding. It was no use, however. They waited until he came round the third time and then went on with it. "There's no escape," says King Kelly, "once they get you hooked."

Bill Tierney: "You have heard of the fight between David and Goliath?"

Micky Torrance: "I don't read the sport page, but if it's a real scandal, let's hear about it."

"Is Mrs. Blank at home?" inquired the neighbor, standing in the shadow of the doorway.

"I don't know, ma'am," the new maid replied. "I can't tell till I get a better look at you. If you're on a wart on the side of your nose, she's out, and I'm next to you, Mrs. Troubler."

Aggie: "Yes, Billy came for me in the dusk last night."

Jim Swanson: "What kind of a car's that?"

Bill Wilkinson was listening to a local singer, who is quite ambitious, taking a singing lesson from her teacher.

"Quite fine work," said the teacher, "your enunciation is not good; I would like to hear an itch or two."

"Great Jehovah!" said Bill, "if that bird knew hangings about music she would know there's nothing better than G."

Stout Ballplayer (conquering roost): "Wonders a bit small. Wouldn't be much use to me in an emergency."

Landlady: "There ain't going to be any such emergency. My terms for ballplayers is weekly in advance."

Smithy: "May I marry your daughter, sir, or can't I live without her?"

Mr. Zell: "Take her mother, too. I can't live with her."

Mrs. Blank: "You—you—yes, please!"

Fond Husband: "Quite right, my dear. You're always making me sleep."

Jim Moran: "You're behind with your studies, son."

Mike: "Well, how could I pursue them if I weren't?"

Premier Ferguson, of Ontario, and Premier Taschereau, of Quebec, have been trying to sing Tommie Wright's song "Alouette." When they want that song sung in Toronto, why don't they send for Tom and have it put on properly?

A man wearing a worried look went into Rexall's, and asked for a hundredweight of bug destroyer.

"Certainly, sir," said the powdered-wigged gardener, "but that quantity would be sufficient to destroy all the slugs in the Bow Valley."

"I know that," was the reply. "They are all in my garden."

ADMINISTERING AN ESTATE IS A BUSINESS IN ITSELF

When you are debating with yourself whether to name an individual or a Trust Company, as Executor of your will and trustee of your estate, bear in mind this vital distinction.

With most individuals executorship is a side issue, for which they have no special preparation. Administering wills and managing estates is the business of a Trust Company for which it has been organized and is especially equipped.

"THE GREATEST FORWARD STEP IN THREE THOUSAND YEARS"

The Wheat Pool

H. W. Wood, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool, says that in forming this marketing organization the farmers took the greatest step forward in three thousand years.

The Wheat Pool enables wheat producers to handle their wheat in their own way and sell it themselves in their own way. The entire force of this great organization is directed towards the desired end of bettering the conditions of the western grain grower.

Every grain grower who joins the Pool now adds that much strength to the Organization. The stronger the Wheat Pool is the better for Western Canada.

THE SECOND SERIES OF WHEAT POOL CONTRACTS ARE NOW READY.

THE DAWN OF A NEW AGRICULTURAL AREA

The "Farm and Ranch Review" has followed the conservative course in connection with the development of the "Reaper-Thresher" system of harvesting our grain. This implement is now definitely on the market in the West, and has been in operation throughout our hard wheat area for a couple of years. One of those who has been converted to its use expresses his mental attitude towards this innovation in the following apt couplet:

"Be not the first by which the new is tried Nor yet the last to lay the old aside!"

This middle course is the one that reasonable people should adhere to.

Hear, The Pioneer

We should get clearly into our minds that the problem that confronts the farmer in connection with this implement is not a mechanical one, but one of geography and climate. The implement has been in exclusive use in the grain fields of the Pacific States for a generation. There is no question in respect to its mechanical perfection and ability to do the work it is designed to accomplish. That was satisfactorily demonstrated years ago. The sole problem is the feasibility of combined harvesting and threshing under our climatic conditions. It is only fair to say that all the evidence up to date points to its success with hard wheat area of our West. The farmers in this expansive experimentation, which includes every farmer who has used this machine here, deserve the gratitude of their brother farmers.

A Far-Reaching Innovation

What is the precise significance of the successful introduction of the "harvester-thresher"? It must be regarded as ushering in a new era in western agriculture, as the most spectacular advance in agricultural economics in our day and generation of such far reaching effect and consequences as almost to be staggering. It would solve completely the problem of producing wheat on our prairies at a cost that will leave the farmer an excellent profit on his year's operations, even in seasons of comparatively low yields. It would automatically lead to the early colonization and profitable development of our vast area of marginal lands within the hard-wheat sections of the West, and bring such a measure of prosperity to the West generally as has never been experienced in our history before. It would increase the capital value, per acre of our wheat lands to a point where our farmers would again find themselves in a thoroughly sound and solvent condition. It would do nothing less than all this.

The Open Mind

So it behooves every farmer to watch this new and spectacular development with an absolutely open mind and with sympathy bordering on optimism. It has now been demonstrated conclusively, that in some years, possibly in most years, the harvester-thresher will function successfully. Enthusiasts claim it will do so every year, but that remains to be proven. But the important point is, that it is not at all necessary for this implement to function successfully every year in order to revolutionize the business of wheat production. If it will do so one year out of three, it constitutes a mighty forward stride. If it will take care of our harvesting-threshing problem two years out of three, the fact will be electrical.

The Saving of Cost

The saving in cost of harvesting and threshing by the use of the "combine" compared with the present hand-stocking and threshing method seems almost fantastic. Here's the actual experience of one man who handled 480-acre crop in the new fashion. His total cost of cutting and threshing 16,000 bushels was $608 for the labor of two men only, gasoline and lubricating oil, including the cost of hauling the grain to the elevator. He estimates that following the old system the cost would have been as follows:

Threshing 16,000 bush at 12c	$2,000.00
Stacking, 50c per acre	240.00
Cutting with Binders, 75c acre	360.00
Healing at $20 day	280.00
Stacking, 75c per acre	360.00
	$3,240.00

Cost by Harvester-Thresher

Making an estimated saving of $2,640.00

It is unnecessary to enlarge on the freedom this implement would confer on the farmer and the farmer's wife in solving completely the present impossible problem of securing and feeding a large gang of harvest help each season.

The Wheat Grower's Key Problem

Every practical farmer knows that his key problem, particularly in years of low yields, is his harvesting and threshing expenses and the extra help required. With those reduced to a minimum, the farmer's problem is only necessary to emphasize the fact, that experience up to date with the new implement, points unmistakably to a successful solution of the last and most important problem in western grain farming. Whether this problem will be entirely solved or only partly solved, time will show. But we have progressed sufficiently to warrant the conviction that a partial remedy is now assured and the belief that a complete solution is well within the probabilities. So we have every reason to view the future of grain farming in the West with optimism.

PROFESSOR THREATENS ELM ONELETS

MAPLE MUFFINS

Professor Ponck, of Berlin, while in Washington, predicted that within two hundred years, the world's menu may have to be secured from the forests, and that Pine tree mush, Elm onelets, Maple muffins, etc., etc., may be the regular bill of fare, as he expects that the saturation point of eight billions will be the population at that time.

It is quite evident that the learned professor has overlooked the wheat producing future of the Province of Alberta and Saskatchewan, which, with a reasonable support from the rest of the world, will provide the

Reviving the Frontier Days of the West

BRONCO BUSTING AT THE "STAMPEDE"

WILL ROGERS

GUY WEADICK

EDWARD F. ALBEE

"PAWNEE BILL"

Calgary's annual "stampedes" in the foothills of the Canadian Rockies has for years past intrigued such famous artists as the late Charles Russell, and a long list of other artists, editors, cowboys, as well as frontiersmen like Col. John S. Dennis, who commanded the Dennis Scouts during the Riel Rebellion.

This big show where the last great west rubs shoulders with the effete east, will be staged in Calgary July 11-16. The greatest of its kind in North America it has among its patrons the Prince of Wales, whose R-P Ranch is near at hand, and the Governor-General of Canada. This year Pawnee Bill (Major Gordon W. Lillie), Will Rogers, famous cow-burner and Edward F. Albee, president of the South-Alber. Circuit, have donated trophies for the various events through Guy Weadick, originator of the Stampede and Stampede manager.

The Stampede starts the first day with the Inter-Continental parade through the streets of Calgary. Along the parade includes hundreds of Indians in full war regalia, old timers of the prairie with their Red River carts, veterans of the famous Royal North West Mounted Police (now Royal Canadian Mounted Police), cowboys and cowgirls, chuck-wagon outfits with all manner of wild animals as mascots.

The regular "Stampede" program, run off daily under the direction of Guy Weadick, will include bronco-busting competitions, steer-riding, cow roping, Roman standing races, chuck-wagon races and Indian races, in which square and buck ride as if for their lives. The Indian village in Victoria with its gaily painted teepees is colorful and interesting and there are a score of other attractions different in every respect to anything seen anywhere in Canada—one of these attractions needed 60 Canadian Pacific cars to transport it last year.

Calgary's annual stampede has been rightly described as "a living page from the history of the brave days of the frontier."

The used Ford car you buy represents so many unused miles of transportation.

The price you pay should be in proportion to the unused mileage which remains in the car.

Whether or not you get the unused mileage you pay for depends largely upon where your used Ford is purchased.

All used car dealers like to handle Fords because the Ford enjoys public confidence and therefore commands a ready sale. But the only safe place to buy a used Ford is from the authorized Ford dealer. He can tell what usage a car has had and knows exactly what reconditioning must be done. He has the men, the equipment and the genuine Ford parts necessary to do this job properly and the Ford you buy from him is a better car than you can get for the same money anywhere else.

Why you should buy your used Ford Car from an Authorized Ford Dealer

1. All used cars sold by authorized Ford dealers are guaranteed to be as represented.
2. All used Fords are reconditioned to high grade. The Ford parts used are guaranteed to be of the highest quality.
3. A clear title is given with every used Ford. The car has been driven for a limited number of miles.
4. The year of the car is guaranteed to be as stated by the authorized Ford dealer.
5. The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., will inspect the car and issue a certificate of inspection.
6. The authorized Ford dealer is a permanent business establishment and is not a traveling salesman.

If you use Ford car purchased from an authorized Ford dealer is not as represented, it may be returned within 7 days and the purchase money will be refunded in full or used for a new Ford car.

WILL EASTERN AND WESTERN CANADA GET TOGETHER?

TORONTO—The Financial Post says: "Are we finally approaching a period of reconciliation between western agriculture and eastern industry? The recent convention of the Canadian Manufacturers Association in Calgary was productive of a number of incidents that indicated that the real leaders in east and west are adjusting their own particular viewpoints on some of the matters that have in the past caused ill-will between the farming provinces and the manufacturing provinces."

The eastern contingent of manufacturers attending the annual meeting had not gotten beyond Winnipeg before they found that they were among friends. R. B. Hoy, the new minister of agriculture in the Bracken government, gave an address at the dinner tendered to the visitors, that presented a sturdy industrial development for Manitoba and that asked for the co-operation of industry in bringing the commercial promise of the province to fulfillment.

The industrialists' special train moved on to Regina and there, in heart of agrarian revolt, where factories are yet few but grain elevators are densely set, they heard more words of goodwill. Premier J. G. Gardiner, of Winnipeg, a fighter in the farmers' cause, threw out no challenge to the manufacturers. Instead he told them that he recognized that Canada must advance industrially and was willing to see in force any policies necessary for such industrial advance.

At Calgary, similar views were expressed. The local newspapers stated that Calgary felt honored in having been chosen for a manufacturers' meeting. They hoped that the industrial leaders would not go away without stating up possibilities for the investment of capital in Alberta industry, for Alberta aimed to develop a place in the Canadian sun as an important manufacturing centre.

Speaker after speaker, both from east and west, emphasized that Canadian policies were needed, not policies for the farmer nor policies for the factory. "No country can thrive on wheat alone," said the Calgary Albertan while the Calgary Herald (together with the Edmonton Bulletin) reproduced The Financial Post's recent editorial calling upon the manufacturers to seize the opportunity afforded by their visit, to get an understanding of the viewpoint of the west.

There is definitely a change of attitude under way in both east and west. The benign influence of Jubilee year may have something to do with it; such conventions as this industrial meeting in a western city are of assistance; our sensible outspelling of tariff discussion has much to do with it. Industry has nothing to gain from an equally greedy stand on the question of low tariff or no tariff. The tariff has been over-laid; it has been made a political football and passions have been inflamed by discussion on what should be regarded now as one of the lesser of Canadian political issues. The east and the west will not be long getting together if they will only stop arguing about the tariff.

Co-operative effort of groups to advance Canadian agriculture and industry by scientific research; to bring about uniformity in legislation and taxation in Canada; to reduce governmental expenditures; and to people the vacant lands of the Dominion are of greater import to this nation than any upward or downward shift of the tariff level.

FRUIT CROP SATISFACTORY

VERNON, B.C.—A report upon the condition of the fruit crops for the Province of British Columbia has been issued by the Vernon office of the Horticultural Branch of the Department of Agriculture. Orchard conditions are said to be fairly satisfactory though the season of 1927 is opening with the late spring since 1922, as illustrated by the records of blossoming dates and it is approximately 18 days later than the 1926 season. Recent weather has been conducive to growth and all crops are progressing well. Orchards generally have wintered well.

JUBILEE SERVICE IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

LONDON—Preparations are now well advanced for the great service in Westminster Abbey on July 1, which will form the chief commemoration in London of Canada's Diamond Jubilee. The Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. Dr. Forth Norris, has drawn up an order of service which follows as nearly as possible that which was used when the Jubilee of Confederation was commemorated in the Abbey in 1917. It will open with the singing of "O Canada." Prayers and an anthem will follow, and the Dean will then deliver an exhortation to give thanks for the Dominion's completion of sixty years' advancement. The Doxology will then be sung, followed by "Recessional," and the service will close with the national anthem.

It is hoped that choristers of St. George's Chapel, Windsor, who recently toured Canada, will be able to join the Abbey choir in the leading of the singing.

Owing to the King and Queen having a number of engagements to fill in Scotland so close to the date, it is feared it will be impossible for Their Majesties to attend the service. The Duke of Connaught has already intimated his intention to be present. Practically the whole of the British Cabinet, with a large number of representatives of embassies and legations, have asked that seats be reserved for them.

Ten years ago, when Canada's Jubilee was celebrated, the war was, of course, at its height. The Abbey on that occasion was well-nigh filled with Canadian nurses, soldiers and others whom the stern necessities of the times had brought to England.

WAITING TO GO HOME

An old couple in Scotland, down to their last penny, wrote to their son in America, stating that if he did not help them they would have to go to the poorhouse. Three weeks later came a reply from their son. His letter read: "Dear Mother and Father—Just wait another fortnight, I'll come home an' pay 'em."
